What information can the company disclose to certain third parties?

We do not pass on information to companies, organizations and individuals outside the Company unless one of the following conditions applies:

We will share your personal data with companies, organizations or individuals outside of the Company if we have a conscientious belief that accessing, using, storing or disclosing personal data is reasonably necessary for:

- compliance with any applicable laws, regulations, lawsuits, or coercive government requests;
- the application of current legislation, including the investigation of possible violations;
- identifying, preventing fraud, supporting security or solving technical problems;
- protect the rights, property or security of the Company, our users or the public as necessary or within legal limits.

We can share identifiable information in public and with our partners. For example, we may publish information in public to show trends in the overall use of our website.

If the Company participates in the merger, acquisition or sale of assets, we will continue to ensure the confidentiality of any personal data and notify Users before the personal data are transferred or become subject to another privacy policy.

We will not share your name, email address or other information with other users.

Under certain conditions, we may transfer your personal data to a third party in another country for further processing in accordance with the objectives set out in this Policy. In some cases, this may include the transfer of data to countries that do not provide the same level of protection as the laws of your country of residence. In such cases, we will, in accordance with legal requirements, ensure that your privacy rights will be adequately protected by appropriate technical, organized, contractual or other legal measures.

What rights does the user have?

- You have the right to receive a copy of the personal data that we have about you.
- You have the right to request that we correct any inaccurate information and / or supplement any incomplete personal data. We will correct our records and notify third parties to whom such personal information could be transferred, as described above.
- You have the right to transfer to another person or request a copy of all personal data that you provided to us, after which we will transfer this data to another data controller of your choice.
- You can exercise this right by clicking on the “unsubscribe” or “unsubscribe” link in the marketing letters that we send you.

- You have the right to request that we stop processing your personal data. Please note that this may prevent you from using certain services for which the processing of your personal data is necessary.
- You can withdraw your consent to the processing of your personal data at any time. This will not affect the legality of data processing to which you previously agreed. Please note that if you withdraw your consent, this may prevent you from using some of the features of our service that require the processing of your personal data.
- You have the right to request that we delete all of your personal data, and we will do it if there is no legitimate reason not to do so.
- You have the right to file a complaint with the supervisor.

Automatic decision making

In some cases, our use of your personal data may result in making automatic decisions (including profiling) that affect you legally or have an important influence on you of a different nature. An automatic decision is a decision about you, made automatically on the basis of a computer calculation (using software algorithms), without human control. When we apply an automatic decision that concerns you, you have the right to challenge the decision, to express your point of view and demand that the person reconsider the decision.
